SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1901.

UNJUST AND UNGRATEFUL.

Hardly had the last vote been polled on Tuesday night before our down town contemporary was to the front with charges of bribery, intimidation, and corruption. The majority in Brandon had been bought, or the workmen on the C. P. R. intimidated into voting for a party whom they abhorred. In fact it was stated that they were driven in herds to the poll, like sheep to the slaughter, followed by those who employed them, and there made to vote for Mr. Woodworth, whether they wanted to or not, and Mr. Sifton and his friends were compelled to stand quietly by and submit to the fraud which was being carried on. This was the cry of the organ the first evening and it has been reiterated on all possible occasions since, although it is well known that there is no truth in the statement and that it only originated in the fertile imagination of the scribbler who having harped upon it so much now believes it.

But the climax is reached when Mr. Sifton in his card of thanks allows himself to drop into the same ruin and accuses Mr. Woodworth and his supporters of using unfair means of winning the election. Throughout the contest Mr. Sifton in the most gentlemanly manner, never for a moment permitting himself to say anything of a personal nature against his opponent. When he first accepted the nomination he informed his friends that the contest on his part must be one entirely free from such matters, as his opponent was a man he respected. A day or two what do we find? The very man he respected and claims as a friend personally, if not politically, endeavoring at the commencement of his career to blacken his reputation. Of course a little allowance must be made for Mr. Sifton, for no doubt he is yet smarting under the lash of defeat and shattered hopes and aspirations, and it is to be hoped when he is again in his milder moods he will heartily regret his rash and rather despicable action.

Among Conservatives it is well known that the election was carried on honestly and fairly. That thorough organization existed, and that all worked with a will, and that what the result would be was known to them several days before the polling, and if our opponents are so over the defeat their want of proper organization, lack of arguments, and the flimsy platform which they had erected for their temple of hope, are the main reasons for their not being able to secure a majority of the votes of the intelligent classes of Brandon. Mr. Sifton and his friends should by this time begin to realize that he is not the only defeated candidate in the Province, and that the teachings of the party which he adheres to were the real cause of his defeat, and not imaginary bribery and corruption, and that Mr. Woodworth would soon be elected by other than fair means.

Mr. Sifton we opine allows himself to be led just a little too much by the opinions of the evening sheet, opinions and ideas that overflow with venom, and which do more to hurt the cause of the party than the friends of it seem to realize. Mr. Sifton, the Sun is mainly to blame your defeat, and many there are who know it.

Affairs in France remain very unsettled, but so far no disruption has occurred. The arrest of Prince Jerome was quietly effected, and his trial is now as quietly being conducted. A proposition has been adopted by a committee of the Chamber of Deputies excluding from French territory Algeria and the Colonies and all members of families having reigned in France, depriving them of their political rights as citizens, and declaring them ineligible to any office, and preventing them belonging to the army. The resolution of the Committee further provides that transgressors of the proposed law be amenable to correction at the tribunals, and liable to from one to five years' imprisonment, after which they shall be again expelled. The probable ending of the present disturbance is that bickerings and annoyances will continue, until probably in the end there will be an eruption which will be fierce for even such a country as France.

The result of the elections in this Province has been a severe disappointment to Reformers. They had for months wa-ed the struggle, and where it was possible a helping hand was extended, and many were the prophesies that Conservatism would be hurled from this fair Province. According to the Gait prints each day as it passed served to crush out feelings favorable to the Norway Government, and on election day the party of discord and strife were to be placed in the much coveted position on the right of the Speaker. Like the last rose of summer these hopes have faded and gone, and they enter into the approaching contest in their own Province considerably weakened by the bluffs their friends have here received. What the result will be in the Eastern Province it is as yet impossible to forecast, but it may be reasonably expected that the contest will be a close one, and will perhaps be as great a surprise to the Ontario Reformers as the one just over has been to them in the west.

INTER-PROVINCIAL.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

Clipped from Exchanges.

A dastardly trick was committed in Winnipeg some time Wednesday night or early Thursday morning which will involve a serious pecuniary loss upon a city hackman. When William Jordan went into the yard in the rear of the International Hotel this morning to get his two cabs, he found that they had been cut almost to pieces. The tops of both hacks are ruined beyond repair, and the bodies of the vehicles are badly smashed up. It will cost at least $400 to make the hacks serviceable again, and it is a question if it ever can be done. The author of this outrage is unknown, but the cause of it is surmised. Recently the city cabmen erected a shelter near Knox Church and paid for telephone communication. All the hackmen using the shelter, used the telephone, and a pivery stable keeper drew the attention of the company to the fact. The Company informed the hackmen that the charge was $50 per year for every one using an instrument and that each hackman doing so must comply with the rule. Two of the hackmen, Dublin Dan and William Jordan, each paid the company $50, thus securing the exclusive use of the telephone. Some of the other hackmen became jealous, and it is suspected that one or two more of them have committed this outrage. The matter is in the hands of the police.

A party of men, about forty in number, and employed by R. J. Short, started out from Rat Portage on Friday last for camp No. 3, fifty-five miles distant. The weather when they left Rat Portage, was rather stormy but moderating. Soon after they had left the stern backs upon them afresh with redoubled violence. The cold was intense, and blizzards by the drifting snow, the men lost their way when at fifteen miles from Rat Portage. They wandered around for over an hour, and by a mischance happened to get on some thin ice, which broke and let five of the men in, and badly wetting some of the others. The consequence was that the men's feet froze at once. Fortunately for them they managed to strike the trail again. Fifteen miles away there was a log cabin, and for this they made with all the speed they could. On reaching it they found a large fire burning in the stove and everything comfortable. The first bitter men were taken in, and their feet rubbed with snow for over an hour. They remained there all night, and next morning made a fresh start for the camp, now twenty-five miles off. The legs of the crippled men were wrapped in blankets, and the most injured rode on horseback. When the camp was reached the men who had been frozen could not walk, and had to be carried in, indeed they had to be carried the greater part of the way after leaving the cabin, as the pains they endured were so terrible. At the camp their feet were rubbed carefully and everything that their limited means could suggest was done to alleviate their suffering. On Monday the five worst cases were taken back to Rat Portage by a team, and from thence removed to Winnipeg, where they were admitted to the General Hospital on Tuesday evening. The names of the sufferers and the extent of their injuries are as follows:—John Thompson, who will lose part of one of his feet. John M. Coulson will lose his toes. Paul E. Elliot, Fred. W. Woodman, John Kingston will each lose some toes.

Some other cases of severe frostbites are in the Hospital. Jas. Poole, was found lying with both feet and right hand frozen in a sled on Common Street, on Friday, and taken to the Hospital on Sunday, will lose most of his toes. James Wylie, who was brought in from Selkirk, had one of his hands amputated from the wrist, and all the fingers from the other, yesterday. The Hospital is now so crowded that several of the patients are lying on the floor.

A dispatch was received on Wednesday by Mr. Acton Burrows stating that a large number of persons belonging to Burle district had been frozen, some of them very badly, on election day. The dispatch was dated at Ellenhore, and contained the additional information that several of the frost-bitten people were suffering to such an extent that it had been decided best to send them to Winnipeg for treatment at the hospital. They are expected to arrive here to-night. Mr. Burrows is arranging this afternoon for their admission to the hospital.

A Rapid City gentleman, who was informed of the contents of the dispatch referred to said: "We too had a great number of people frozen badly in Minnesota on election day. The weather was bitter cold, and of upwards of 200 voters who turned out, I think that at least four fifths of them must have been severely frost bitten."

In the storm two weeks ago, Mr. John Wallis, a farmer who lives north of the Portage, narrowly escaped being lost. It appears he was on his way home from the Portage, driving an ox team, when one of his oxen got placed in a rut and lay down. Mr. Wallis put forth every effort to get the animal up again but all was in vain. He could not make him get up, so he concluded better to try and make his way home with the other ox as soon as possible, as the storm was increasing in violence and night was coming on. Mounting the animal he put on the sled and was soon carried home. The next day he returned to the place where he had left his play-out animal, but the brute was nowhere to be found. He has not been able to find him since and has about concluded that the poor brute perished in the storm.

BRANDON BUDGET.

If the weather be any propitious to-day the firemen intend turning out with the hose to fill the tanks.

The firemen will be fairly "cooling it" if the cutters turn out in such numbers as they have been lately.

A new agency, under the Winnipeg Brewing Co., is shortly to be opened up in this city. This, when started, will be No. 8 on our list of brewery agencies.

New cushioned seats are shortly to be placed in the Methodist Chapel in this city. They are to be brought from Hamilton, Ont., and are now on the way.

The mercury stood above zero yesterday from 5 o'clock in the morning till 7 in the evening when that gentle breeze blew and the thermometer gradually lowered and at 10 stood 4 below.

A test was again made on the street lamps last night, and proved more satisfactorily than the former one. No doubt, after they are once got going they will illuminate our streets more effectively.

We understand that Mr. P. E. Durr intends erecting a magnificent three-story brick building on Rosser opposite his present stand. Full particulars will be given in Monday's Mail.

A new industry, in the shape of a machine repair shop, is shortly to be opened up on Ninth street, by the vigorous and energetic firm of Riebschry & Co., concerning which we will give a full description.

Messrs. Woodworth and Rounsfell have received several carloads of wood, which they have at their railway siding at the foot of First Street. The wood is all dry poplar and tamarack, and the firm offer it for sale at low price.

Messrs. Scott and Paisley have the rear part of the building occupied in front by the Telegraph office &c. It is a spacious room measuring 40 x 40 feet and is to be utilized by them for storing oats in which they intend dealing very extensively. They are now taking in all they can procure.

The Baptist church meets for worship in the Brandon school house on Sabbath, 29th inst., at 11 a.m., and at 7 p.m., when the Rev. A. McDonald is expected to preach. Mr. McDonald will also meet in the same place with his Bible class at 1:30 p.m. The place which has been sometimes cold in the past, will be made comfortable.

The hop came off in the Ottawa House last night when a goodly number of our respected citizens turned out to spend a night of much mirth and amusement. Excellent music was supplied and the floor was also ably conducted. The party broke up when the women's hours came, all satisfied with the night's amusement and pouring blessings on the owners of such a social recreation.

We have received the prospectus of the Winnipeg Consolidated Gold Mine Co. This company appears to have struck "pay dirt" and are making all necessary arrangements to work their claim most thoroughly, and by the spring the development of mines will have proceeded far enough to enable them to keep a twenty stamp mill continually in operation, and it is expected that they will be able to crush about 30 tons of ore per day. Mr. John B. Berryman, of Winnipeg, secretary of the company, will be glad to furnish all particulars.

Dr. Spencer was called out between five and six o'clock yesterday morning to attend a case a short distance from the city on the Milford road. When about three miles from Brandon on the bank of the hill near Currie's Landing, he spied a prairie wolf not over six paces to the left of the trail. It seemed quite at home and came close up to the cutter in which he was driving so that the Doctor could slash at the wile with the whip. Going on further they—the Doctor was accompanied by another gentleman—came upon a second one which raised a rattle close by them, and a third a little distance ahead eating at a bullock's head. A fourth one to the right concluded the number of wolves, also the absence of any other animal, perhaps by that time the wolves were in a climate with the temperature at about blood heat, and didn't want any in his.

The Methodist Literary Association held their usual weekly meeting in that church last evening when a good programme was put on the boards including songs, speeches, recitations &c., by the members. The entertainment closed by a debate "Resolved that Manitoba offers greater inducements to young men than the other Provinces." It was led in the affirmative by Mr. Peterson, who, on speaking took a cursory view of the relative position of two Provinces viz., Ontario and Manitoba and said that, while Ontario was elegant—which fact he did not know whether or not would lie to the credit of the N. P., Manitoba was progressing and had 20 or 40 millions of Holland money coming in next year.

Mr. Sifton Jr. took the lead in speaking in the negative remarking that he was the unpopular side of the question and that he would attempt to speak, not flowery but figurative language. He thought the monetary advantage to be gained on coming to this Province was meagre and that certainly people did not come here for their health. He disagreed with the assertion of Mr. Peterson that Ontario was at a standstill, and spoke of the many advantages in Ontario that are not to be met with here such as mechanical institutes, academies, agricultural schools &c. The other speaker for the affirmative was Mr. Kirkpatrick and for the negative Mr. Robinson, Mr. Wallace, the chairman of the occasion explained that according to the constitution both leaders were entitled to take a second stand on the platform when Mr. Peterson did and on stepping on, began in such strong denouncing terms to relate the arguments of his opponents that was enough to frighten the "Bulls of Bashan". Decision was given in the affirmative by the vote of audience.

Municipality of Glenwood.

Report of Proceedings of Council.

The municipal council of the municipality of Glenwood, comprising townships 7 and 8, ranges 20, 21 and 22 west, met this day at the Warden's office, the Warden in the chair. Present—Heatherington, Jamieson, Hunter, Sharman and Wenman.

The minutes of last meeting read and passed.

Moved by Mr. Heatherington, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that the clerk shall receive $100 per year.—Carried.

Mr. Heatherington moved, seconded by Mr. Jamieson, that Messrs. Wenman, Sharman and the Warden be a committee to build a bridge over Pien Creek.—Carried.

Destroyers of Contagion.

The Boston Journal of Chemistry says: "Modern science has let in a flood of light upon the causes of many diseases, and the nature of the contagion upon which their propagation depends. Not only has the cause of disease been traced to agents external to the body, but the exact forms of these disturbing organisms have been pointed out. They consist of minute particles, probably in most or all cases of a vegetable nature; they are therefore non-gaseous and in no respect comport themselves like gaseous bodies."

The best method to disinfect clothing is by the use of heat. Experiment has shown that no form of contagion can withstand a temperature of 220 degrees Fahrenheit; therefore, clothing placed in a box for two hours, with dry heat above that of boiling water, is thoroughly disinfected; or it may be soaked in boiling water with the same result.

Chlorine is a gaseous body, and is in ordinary cases an effective disinfectant. It is, however, inferior to sulphurous acid; this is the most valuable agent we have, but unfortunately it is not safe in inexperienced hands. A room in which a case of infectious disease has been placed can be thoroughly cleaned by burning a little sulphur in the absence of the inmates. The sulphurous acid is a gas exceedingly disagreeable and irritable, and great caution is necessary in its use.

Potassiumate of potash is a true disinfectant having oxidizing powers of high capability, but it must be used in much larger quantities than are usually employed. Its high cost is a bar to its free use, and it is not clearly seen how it can ever become much cheaper. Chloride of lime, freely used, is a good disinfectant; but when it is placed in vessels in small quantities in sick-rooms or apartments sprinkled in drains, it has but slight influence as a destroyer of contagion. Carbolic acid is a cheap and good disinfectant, but it must be used in large amounts to be useful. Several of the metallic salts have powerful antiseptic properties; for example, the protochloride of iron. This salt, in strong solution, is a valuable agent, and is worthy of notice. At this point it should be stated that carbolic acid and the metallic salts, used in small quantities, are preservative agents, and may actually prolong the life of contagion by preventing its destruction through natural processes.

There are numerous patented "antiseptics" and "disinfectants" which are perfectly worthless so far as any influence upon septic germs is concerned. It is very important that heads of families, and especially physicians, should clearly understand what is required when selecting an agent for practical use.
